

Red 217

An Andrew Harrison Adventure

Blurb

One hidden code. Two deadly stages. A conspiracy that goes all the way to the top.

Mike Bennett thought he was leading a mission of mercy. Organised as a "Peace Convoy" to deliver water and food to the war-torn streets of Gaza, the ageing mechanic soon realises his trucks are carrying something far more sinister than relief supplies.

When a mysterious illness strikes a local village with terrifying speed - killing 140 people in thirty-six hours without a single sign of contagion - Mike and dedicated field doctor Myah Willis stumble upon a horrific truth: they have been used as unwitting mules for a new breed of biological warfare. They are joined by Andrew Harrison, an ex-Marine with a shadowy past and a "toolkit" that includes than just spanners.

As the team is hunted from the desert sands of Rafah to the quiet shores of Portland, England, they must race against time to reverse-engineer the virus before a massive release on American soil.

From high-stakes escapes across the Mediterranean to a final, deadly showdown in the heart of London, RED 217 is a gripping political thriller that asks: How much is a human life worth when mass murder is just a service?
